EASTWICK SEPTA REGIONAL RAIL TO HEINZ WILDLIFE REFUGE TRAIL SURVEY

The proposed Eastwick SEPTA RR to Heinz Wildlife Refuge Trail is located between Cratin Place and Luther Place and would better connect residents between Eastwick's SEPTA Regional Rail Station and John Heinz Wildlife Refuge. Below you can find a map of the proposed trail route and a list of frequently asked questions.

Clean Air Council, City agencies, and stakeholders are interested in learning how Eastwick residents would like to use the trail and to understand what amenities neighbors would like to see on and along the trail. Use the QR code below to complete this survey to let the City know how you would like to be engaged, motivated, and welcomed to a trail in your community.

Eastwick Trail
Community Survey

COBBS CREEK TRAIL PLAY AND LEARN STATION SURVEY

Clean Air Council, community partners and stakeholders are leading a project to create joyful welcome areas to Cobbs Creek Park. Growing the existing playful learning installations to new areas along Cobbs Creek Trail, the goal of this project is to enhance park and trail entrances with mural art on the paved trail and small play and learning stations for children and families to enjoy. The previous project locations and designs can be seen below and provide an example and starting point for the future designs of the new play and learn stations.

The Council is launching a community design survey that acts as a starting place to learn what neighbors would like to see included in the project, see QR code to access the survey, Throughout the next several months we will be gaining feedback at meetings, events and workshops. For questions or to learn more please contact Will at wfraser@cleanair.org.
